Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1, line 3, “the interval there-between” lacks antecedent basis within the claim. It is therefore, not clear as to what “the interval there-between” refers. Line 4, “the interval” lacks antecedent basis within the claim. It is therefore, not clear as to what “the interval” refers. Line 8, “the lowest point” lacks antecedent basis within the claim. It is therefore, not clear as to what “the lowest point” refers. Line 9, “the highest point” lacks antecedent basis within the claim. It is therefore, not clear as to what “the highest point” refers. Line 10, “the respective position” lacks antecedent basis within the claim. It is therefore, not clear as to what “the respective position” refers.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Bruehlman ‘343 in view of either of Weston ‘147 and Goeltz ‘018.

Art Unit: 3637

Bruehlman discloses a framework 1/2/3 of rods with lattice bars; a mold assembly including a panel 20 formed with a plurality of holes positioned below the framework, a wedge portion 9 with slit 14, and a sliding plate 4. A connecting means 18 serves to connect the framework with the panel. Bruehlman does not appear to specifically disclose use of iron bars for the framework section.

However, either of Weston and Goeltz discloses use of iron bars to form framework sections. Therefore, to have provided the Bruehlman assembly with iron rods forming the framework section 1/2/3, thus taking advantage of an old and well known framework section material, would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made as taught by either of Weston '147 and Goeltz.
